BINANCE SMART CHAIN

1- Blockchain Utilization:

Yanishu harnesses the power of blockchain technology as a decentralized automated market maker (AMM). Operating on the Binance Smart Chain (BSC), Yanishu serves as a decentralized application (DApp), incorporating features such as DeFi (Decentralized Finance), NFT (Non-Fungible Tokens), and DAO (Decentralized Autonomous Organization). The utilization of blockchain ensures transparency, security, and immutability within the Yanishu ecosystem.

2- Smart Contracts and Protocols:

Yanishu's technical foundation is fortified by robust smart contracts and protocols. These smart contracts execute various functions within the ecosystem, including facilitating decentralized exchanges, managing liquidity pools, and ensuring the seamless operation of decentralized finance applications. The protocols implemented adhere to the standards of the Binance Smart Chain, guaranteeing compatibility, efficiency, and low transaction costs.

The Yanishu project has strategically embraced the advantages of the Binance Smart Chain, positioning itself as a decentralized wallet capable of handling various currencies. As a fully asset-backed token, Yanishu stands out, providing users with a unique and reliable decentralized finance experience. The commitment to lower transaction fees, faster processing times (averaging around 300 transactions per 3 seconds). The integration of blockchain technology into the existing business structure demonstrates a forward-looking approach, with a vision to transition a significant portion of the fiat portfolio turnover into crypto assets. This strategic move is underpinned by meticulous research, a dedicated technology division established in 2019, and a proficient team focused on developing and integrating blockchain solutions on a global scale. Notably, the choice of the Binance Smart Chain over Ethereum is driven by significantly lower gas fees, enhancing the overall cost-effectiveness of Yanishu's operations.

The BSC community made the network even more appealing to new users as a cost-effective and stable alternative, by lowering its gas fee. In comparison to Ethereum, gas fees on Binance Smart Chain (BSC) are almost 20 times lower. The model is to amalgamate present business structure with blockchain technology and convert at least half of our fiat portfolio turnover in crypto assets.

In choosing the Binance Smart Chain (BSC) for the Yanishu project, we prioritize efficiency, cost-effectiveness, and security. BSC's high throughput allows for rapid transaction processing, ensuring a seamless and responsive user experience within the Naybit and partners. The low transaction fees on BSC align with our goal of providing users with a cost-effective payment solution, minimizing overhead and maximizing the benefits of Yanishu.

Moreover, BSC's integration offers robust security features, contributing to a secure environment for Yanishu transactions. The decentralized nature of BSC aligns with our commitment to transparency and trust within the Naybit trading platform . By leveraging BSC's established infrastructure, Yanishu benefits from a well-established blockchain network, providing a reliable foundation for our users.

In summary, BSC is the ideal choice for Yanishu, offering speed, cost-effectiveness, security, and a supportive environment for the diverse range of services provided within the platform.
